Carried to Civilization by Mounted Patrol From Herschell Island
—Explorer Went on Long Trip to Banksland, Big Island
in Arctic and Never Returned

A SAD circumstance connected with the recent arrival of the Mounted police patrol from Herschel Island, and one which did not come to light until last night, is the fact that the officers brought with them the earthly possessions of Hubert Darrell, explorer and prospector, who since being seen in the late fall of 1910 at Liverpool Bay on the Arctic ocean, has never been heard of and who is now given up for dead.

This interesting information was elicited last night by the Bulletin from Constable Sommers, of the R. N. W. M. P., who has spent the last three years at Herschel Island, and who came down with the far-north party recently.

Some Years in Arctic. Darrell, who is a Scotchman of about 25 or 30 years of age—well educated, and of pleasing address—had spent some years in exploration work in the Arctic regions. During the Constable Sommers leaves this morning for Scotland, and will return about March to go again into the far north.

Accompanied by a half-breed guide named Jaco, the explorer started out from MacPherson, but at a point near "Husky" Lake, the breed left Orell. The explorer was next seen by a grueling examination by H. A. Bonnar, for the prosecution, the case was adjourned until Monday.

the noted automobile racer, and Gary Sarata, of Jackson, a 16-year-old spectator, were killed, and three persons injured here this afternoon, when Endicott's automobile, hurtling around a track crunched through a fence crowd, which lined both sides of the track, could realize what had happened. The machine skidded about 20 feet and plunged directly at a slimy fence to the side of the course.

The injured are: George Benedict, Los Angeles; Mrs. Mabel Walters of Francis Hall, 13 years old, both Jackson. Benedict's condition is Benedict was taken to a local hospital and late tonight had only partly recovered consciousness. He is believed to be injured internally; the Serata girl was instantly killed. The car crushed her to death in two-thirds of a second.

SALE OF LOTS AT PRINCE GEORGE BRITISH COLUMBIA

SITUATED at the confluence of the Fraser and Neelawa Rivers in Central British Columbia, 30 miles northwest of Vancouver, B.C., and 407 miles east of Prince Rupert, B.C., or midway between Prince Rupert and Edmonton, Alta., on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

By reason of its central location, Prince George will be the natural distributing point for the extensive territory comprised in the Pacific Province of British Columbia, and it has therefore long been the expectation of the general public that upon the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, Prince George will early become a large and important center.

Having purchased what was known as the Port George Indian Reserve No. 1 for the purpose of locating a townsite there, the Grand Trunk Pacific Development Company Limited has caused the same to be surveyed and plotted and will offer lots in this townsite for sale by public auction at Vancouver, British Columbia, Wednesday September 17th, 1913, and at Edmonton, Alberta, Wednesday, September 24th, 1913.

The terms of this sale will be one-quarter cash and the balance payable in one, two and three years with six per cent interest. For further particulars and plans apply to:

LABOR CONGRESS TRIES TO STOP EMIGRATION TIDE

Circulars Sent Broadcast—Say Canada Labor Market is Flooded Particularly Bate Western Canada Has Many Unemployed

London, Sept. 5.—The circulars from the Trade and Labor Congress of Canada, dealing with the condition of the Canadian labor market, have just been received in London. Nearly all the chief trade unions have been approached. It is said, with the secretary of each lodge as the Trade Union Congress have received several copies of these documents. It is rather unlikely that they will have much effect on the tide of emigration, for many of the emigrants who go to Canada are non-unionists, but the circular will receive wide publicity in the various small organs issued by the unions themselves.

Just at present there is rightly or wrongly, a strong feeling that emigration has been overdone in this country. This feeling does not receive the publicity commensurate with its strength, for newspapers hesitate with regard to the publication of fictitious or untrue statements to suit advertisers, but, setting aside the efforts of the main group of British, whose naturally to be cautious is so well known, there is hardly a day passes but what one or more letters appear in the columns of the London Labor and Radical press describing the conditions of the Canadian labor market.

Following is the wording of the circular sent broadcast:
The Trade and Labor Congress of Canada.
Office of the secretary-treasurer, 112
Fleet Street, Ottawa, Canada,
July 5, 1913.
To the wage-workers of Great Britain and the continent of Europe, greeting.

Fellow workers and brothers—in addressing this appeal to the workers in Britain, the Trade and Labor Congress in no way warrants the large attention to the fact that this is not the first official warning regarding Canadian industrial conditions.

In the winter of 1912-13, and the winter of 1913-14, the Congress sent special agents to Britain to personally convey their message and to refute the misrepresentation which was everywhere rife regarding Canada. For over two years the Congress sent this message and the imposition of restrictions which proved to be necessary in order to prevent the wholesale dumping of penniless emigrants by the shipping companies. The flood was to some extent checked and its constituent elements changed in character. Gradually, however, the old system of "boasting" and advertising has again become established. The publicity bureau of the corporations have adopted more thorough methods and Britain is flooded today with mass advertising in regard to Canada which forces itself on the public's notice from almost every paper if the last—not cheapening even the labor press.

Big Increase.
The result of this has been a huge increase in the stream of immigration, which has flooded the labor market of every city in Canada, and the western cities, to such an extent that every city of any size for some time has been unemployed.

In addition to other employees' associations and builders' exchanges have been carrying on a special campaign in Britain to produce just such a result with its lucrative result in lowered wages and longer hours. This is undoubtedly their objective as has been voiced at their conventions. There are more trade union and mechanics in Canada today than can ever hope to get employment at their various trades, and these will be driven to scramble with the unskilled men for whatever rough work there may be during the summer. From the trade and labor councils of Canadian cities the Congress officers are in receipt of continued complaint in regard to overcrowding, and the outlook for this autumn and winter is becoming serious.

Excerpt From Press.
The following excerpt from the Vancouver World is significant, especially at this time of the year. City authorities there have had much trouble in the past, and they are evidently alarmed at the present arrival.
"Facing the retarding influence which the present financial stringency is exerting on works of a prosperous character in Vancouver, Mayor Baxter this morning uttered a quiet word of warning against people in the old country going up fairly good positions to come over here where, temporarily, there is little work to be done."

Unfortunately, however, people without a full knowledge of the facts, were coming in in large numbers, where there was nothing for them to do for the time being and he was of the opinion that something should be done to make known to them the true position of affairs here which is evidently alarmed at the present arrival.

View With Alarm Influx Of Orientals Into B. C.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 5.—The Westminster Presbytery, representing that denomination in Vancouver and all the lower mainland, yesterday passed a resolution outlining their policy as regards Oriental immigration. They view with alarm the ever-increasing arrival of Orientals, whose influence is felt in social, economic and even moral conditions.

The resolution adds: "The situation is already exceedingly serious. One in every nine of our population is an Oriental, and as a large proportion of their numbers is men, it means that one man out of every five in British Columbia is an Oriental."

This Presbytery would, therefore, urge that an understanding be arrived at between our government and the various governments interested to exclude Oriental laborers until the proportion of Orientals to Occidentals is one to thirty of the population of British Columbia. In case of Hindus, already residing here, we urge they be allowed to bring in their wives, provided that no other members of this race will be permitted to enter Canada until the above condition is reached, when the question may be re-opened."

TRAINMEN ARRESTED FOR NEW HAVEN WRECK

Ed Murray today. Engineer Miller is at liberty under a $5,000 bond furnished by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Both Miller and Murray, whose roles about the wreck do not agree, it is said, were called as witnesses before Commissioner McEachern.

The private investigation of the coroner began yesterday, which lasted until midnight last night and culminated in the arrest of two trainmen, was continued today under police protection.

"I do not expect to finish with my witness until some time next week," said the coroner this morning.

"Then my findings will be made public."

FUNERAL OF W. J. BERGHAL.

The sudden and tragic death of William J. Bergthal, who lost his life on Tuesday evening while working for the city electric light department in the street lamps on Jasper avenue, is remembered particularly and by the attendant circumstances.

Mr. Bergthal, at the time of the unfortunate accident, had been only three months in the employ of the department, and before securing the position which he held in the city, had been in Edmonton, seeking employment ever since last fall.

Mr. Bergthal came to Alberta from the United States some three years ago, and he was a business man in his own right. He subsequently acquired an adjoining "half section, and by dint of steady and strenuous work performed the conditions required in respect of both pieces of land. He also opened a small store, but found that it was impossible to make any profit from the business, so he was compelled to freight all his goods a distance of over one hundred miles.

The funeral will be held at the home of his family on the land and for the funeral when he met with his death.

The funeral of his demise Mr. Bergthal was forty years of age. He was a native of Ottawa, but spent the majority of his life in various parts of the United States. In 1893 he married Miss Minnie Trevis, at Parent's home.

Throughout his life he has been a hardworking and industrious man, well liked and respected by the many friends whom he has made in the city.

The funeral took place this morning at the church before the body was interred in the cemetery. Friends and fellow workers of the deceased, a recent fellow man was being carried to his last resting place in the city.

The funeral was conducted by the Knights of Columbus, of which Mr. Bergthal was an old member.
